

About Us

Royal Tees Screen Printing began operation in the family dining room with a small manual press, in the summer of 1984. We soon out grew the space and moved into our first commercial building in the fall of 1985. Today, the fully automated company is one of the oldest screen printing companies in Austin, Texas. We understand how important it is to have the right product with a great imprint delivered on time.

We are committed to our clients and are honoured that they entrust their business to us. It is important to you. It is important to us. It is what we do. We are committed to delivering the very best screen printing to our clients and by listening to our clients, learning from our peers and industry experts we are proud to be able to fulfill those screen printing needs. Having won numerous awards both locally and nationally, we realize that it is the feedback from our clients that has allowed us to stay in business and make it all worthwhile.
